Presented by the Seniors
Catholic Central High School
Alpena, Michigan
Volume III

This Dream Came True a Decade Ago

A decade ago, March 19, 1951, the doors of a new Catholic Central High School in Alpena were opened for the first time to the youth of three long-established parishes, St. Anne, St. Mary, and St. Bernard.

The need for a central high school became urgent when elementary enrollments began to climb. The foresighted pastors of the parishes, Right Reverend John Gatzke, St. Mary, Very Reverend William Simon, St. Anne, Reverend James Malone, St. Bernard, and a group of parishioners met to consider an expansion program which would provide adequate high school facilities. A committee was formed consisting of five members from each parish and headed by Very Reverend William Simon, appointed by Most Reverend Bishop Stephen F. Woznicki.

A fund-raising campaign was undertaken and three weeks before the "kick off" date, Mr. Jesse H. Besser generously donated 22 acres of land for the future site of the school.

The first principal appointed to Catholic Central was Reverend Olin J. Murdick who held the office until June 1961 when he became principal of St. Paul Seminary.

During the first seven years, the school was staffed by three religious communities, Felician Sisters, Livonia, and Dominican Sisters, Adrian and Grand Rapids. When the new convent was constructed in 1958, one teaching order was retained, the Dominican Sisters of Grand Rapids.

Catholic Central's enrollment has doubled in this first decade. Its graduates enter all walks of life equipped and trained by a school which educates the whole man.

The Most Reverend Bishop Stephen F. Woznicki cut the ribbon to the new Catholic Central High School March 19, 1951. Assisting the Bishop are Very Reverend William Simon and Reverend Henry DuRussel.

Students, David Lawrence and Thomas Kieliszewski, are counselled by Father John W. Troester, principal.

This 10th Year of Catholic Central Life

Registration, books, and fees come first in a new school year. Wayne Skiba receives a receipt from Sister Mary Aquino.

Covers protect books, so think W. Sabourin, R. Julian, W. Male, A. Marshall, J. Kaiser, N. Kakowski and M. Mischley.

Homecoming is a great time for all especially Queen Judy Badder and her court, Carol Mall, Mary Kelly, Mary Howe, and Sharon Horal.

Holy Communion strengthens and nourishes. Father John Troester distributes to faithful communicants in the convent chapel.

Begins, Grows, and Builds for the Future

Favorite noon eating-spot is Central's cafeteria. Paying Mrs. Genevieve Schorn for lunches are Joanne Janeski and Mary Ann Gallagher.

Music is part of cultural growth in school life. Directing the Catholic Central band is Mr. Joseph Randall.

Social life is various. Leading the Fulmen Dance grand march are Paul Marceau, Patti Jones, Dennis Czolgosz, Kay Kelley, Frank Nerkowski, Karen Kadrich, and Charles Fox.

Students make a retreat annually between the semesters. Father Thomas W. Gedeon S. J. chats with Joanne Higgins and Joan Tadajewski during the noon recess.

For This Way of Living We Are Grateful

Training is intense in competitive sports. Coach John Kircher puts two players through maneuvers on a warm September day.

School spirit is sparked by cheerleaders Diane Konczak, Mary Ann Barrett, Sharon Horal, Jean Prieur, and Judy Doyle.

Marylight is Central's up-to-date newspaper and Ted Worniak takes a year's subscription.

The Parent Teacher Council sometimes gets new slants on education at their meetings. At the November gathering Mr. Julian Halleck, Mr. Robert Ruth, Mr. Thomas Klemens and Mr. Zephere Dault are called upon to take part in a science demonstration set up by Mr. R. K. Scofield, visiting science teacher.

and Dedicate Fulmen 1961 to Our Parents

Behind every good work there is always a guiding hand.
At Catholic Central
we acknowledge the helping role of you, our parents.
We are sincerely grateful for your sacrifice your guidance your patience which enable us to receive an education that not only keeps pace with the space age
but also fosters
the Divine Indwelling in our lives
today and tomorrow.

Dads sometimes pick up their daughters and their books as Mr. Clem Mason does Patricia's, sophomore.

Ambassadors

Dear to the hearts of our Most Reverend Bishop Stephen S. Woznicki and our pastors is Catholic Central High School blessed and dedicated March 19, 1951.

The plans and labors of our bishop and priests have been abundantly fruitful. Education, spiritual, intellectual, social, and physical, flourish. Each year the enrollment increases.

The head of Catholic Central is Reverend John W. Troester who became the school's second principal on June 15, 1960 and succeeded Reverend Olin J. Murdick who was the first to hold the office.

Other priests on the faculty are Reverend Bernard Skornia and Reverend Francis DeWitt who teach Religion.

A reception is sponsored each year by the seniors for their pastors. It is an occasion for the pastors to get better acquainted with their prospective graduates. The Class of 1961 held a reception February 14 in the auditorium.

By assisting at Mass receive God's grace;

By celebrating feasts
maintain devotion;

By praying daily
obtain God's blessings;

By studying religion
increase faith;

By making a yearly retreat
ponder one's vocation;

By belonging to the sodality become Christlike.

Robert Wikaryasz lights the candles on the Advent wreath. Joyce Sylvester, John Wozniak, and Patricia Ruth prepare to recite the prayers.

Liturgical Seasons Are Kept Meaningful

After the Offertory of the Golden Mass the monitors pick up the gifts and place them into appropriately decorated boxes. The senior girls pack the gifts into individual boxes to be distributed to the needy at Christmas.

The Golden Mass is offered during Advent. At the Offertory, all the students assemble at the Communion rail and as the celebrant elevates the paten and recites the offertory prayer, each student presents his offering.

Sacrifice of Mass Is Center of Worship

At the Communion of the Mass, the students who previously offered gifts, symbolic of themselves to God, now receive in return the Divine Giver's gift, Himself, in Holy Communion.

The Altarboys reverently serve the celebrant of the Mass. ROW I: Larry Bedard, Leonard Nowak, Charles Sabourin. ROW II: Joseph Mischley, Michael Kasperski, James Kowalski, Jerome Murrell and George Fitzpatrick.

Altar Boys, Schola, and Sacristans Assist

Janice Grochowski and Joyce Sylvester prepare the cruets.

Sacristans, Rosemary DeCaire, Judy Thompson, and Joyce Henski, arrange the altar.

in the Performance of a Sacred Function

The celebration of Mass is the highlight of every Centralite's day. Assisting the celebrant in the sacred function are the altarboys, sacristans, and the choir.

Closely united with the priest are the altarboys who serve the priest during the sacrifice of the Mass.

The Proper of the Mass is devoutly sung by the Boys' Schola directed by Sister Lisa Marie.

The sacristans give generously of their time to prepare the altar and the altar breads for the celebration of the Mass. Sister Marie Genevieve supervises their work.

Sacristans, Marcia Fotchman and Susan Hansen, lay the Communion cloths in preparation for the Mass.

Outside religion class Father Bernard Skornia further instructs Carol Samp and Pamela Senick, seniors.

Religion Classes, Retreat, and Sodality

Sophomores, Jane Wieschowski, Joan Couture, Michelle Michaud, Richard Kasperski, Daniel Jore, Daniel Jasman, and Arthur Garrick, study the O Antiphons in religion.

An essential part of the high school curriculum is religious instruction given by the priests and Sisters. In these classes, students learn the importance of forming strong Christian principles and ideals. They learn that true happiness comes only from supernaturalizing one's daily living.

Each year a retreat offers students the opportunity to examine their lives and to measure the good they have accomplished. Retreat is a time of prayer and reflection. Reverend Thomas W. Gedeon, S. J., of the Detroit province, conducted the retreat exercises held in the school auditorium Feb. 6-7-8.

Father Thomas Gedeon, S.J., impresses retreatants with "awareness of Christ" in daily living.

The Union Sodality holds its monthly meeting at Central. The officers are Sister Rosalia Marie, moderator, Jeanette Dziesinski, treasurer, Carol LaMarre, secretary, Diane Konczak, prefect, Father Troester, director, Leona Przykucki, vice-prefect, Sister Mary Nunciata and Sister Mary Anthony, moderators.

Help Youth to Know, Love, and Serve God

"To Jesus, through Mary" is the motto that inspires sodalists in their daily work.

Realizing the importance of a deep devotion to the Mother of God, they seek her as their patroness in making themselves faithful and devout Catholics.

The sodalities of the three parishes, St. Anne, St. Mary, and St. Bernard, carry out their spiritual exercises on a parish basis but meet once a month at Catholic Central to plan their Apostolic platforms. This year the sodalists adopted a missionary, Father James Donnelly, C.S.C. of Austin, Texas.

Leaders of St. Anne Sodality are Sally Dubie, treasurer, Rose Mary DeCaire, secretary, Sister Mary Anthony, moderator, Nancy Jaskey, prefect, Betty Macks, vice-prefect, and Judy Werda, secretary.

Heading St. Bernard Sodality are Karen Kadrich, prefect, Mary Ann Barrett, vice-prefect, Jean Prieur, treasurer, Mary Pat Howe, secretary. Moderators are Sister Rosalia Maria and Sister Mary Catherine.

St. Mary Sodality officers are Lorretta Powell, secretary, Sister Mary Nunciata, moderator, Jeanne Kollien, vice-prefect and Ruth Przeslawski, prefect.

Reading Skills

Joanne Kolnowski, Karen Woloszyk, Karen McConnell study words for NOMA spelling contest during the noon recess.

Current events are gleaned from a fine supply of magazines by Ron Glomski, Robert Filipiak, Edmund Hentkowski, Marlene Dragiewicz, and William Gallagher.

Mr. John Kircher, instructor, clarifies a fact in World History to James Homant, Lorraine LaCross, and Sandra Wozniak.

Social Studies Link Present and Past Events

Mr. Philip Petta, history teacher, discusses current problems with his class in the library. Facing the camera are Janet Robarge and Michael Neubert.

Dennis Czolgosz, chairman of mock U.N. session, speaks at General Assembly.

Reports and Discussions Help Understanding

Discussing favorite presidential candidates are Betty Macks, Thomas Olsen, Patricia Jones, Judy Woloszyk, and John Jackowiak.

Joyce Chrzan gives a report on American growth and development while James Kowalski traces the information on the map.

Mr. Richard K. Scofield, Traveling Science Teacher, demonstrates the phenomenon of sound to John Nowakowski, Joseph Mischley, Judy Doyle, and Judy Woloszyk, students.

Visiting Science Teacher Comes to Central

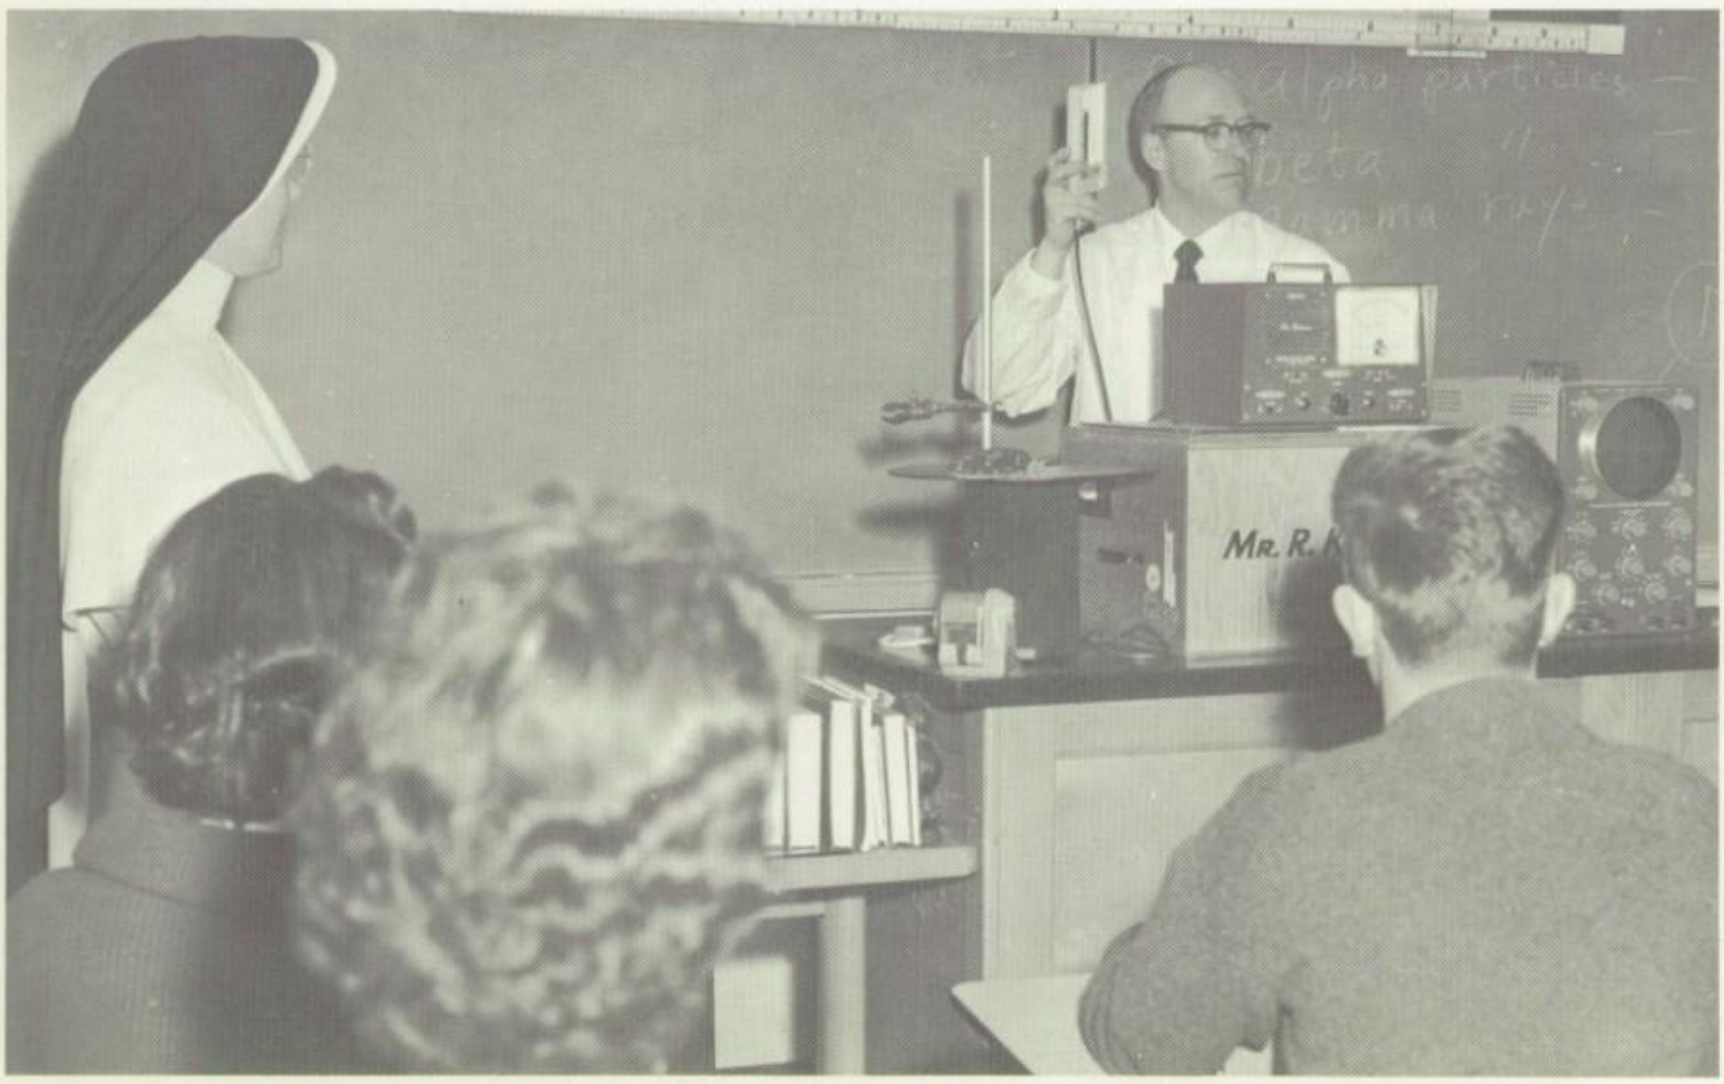
Mr. Richard K. Scofield, National Science Foundation Traveling Science teacher from Michigan State University presented special lecture demonstrations for one week at Catholic Central November 28 to December 2.

One of 12 carefully selected high school Science teachers, Scofield's mission was to stimulate student interest in science and science careers.

Bringing with him a station wagon filled with demonstration equipment, he taught the students how to inexpensively duplicate the apparatus.

He was also available as a consultant to the high school science staff and faculty members.

Mr. R. K. Scofield detects and records radiation for the benefit of Sister Marie Genevieve's trigonometry class.



Studying ballistics, Physics students, James Frantz, Ruth Prezslawski, John Rickle, Jere Doyle, and David Richards watch Michael Kaczorowski shoot a bullet.

As the gun is fired the eager spectators register stunned expressions and measure the muzzle velocity.

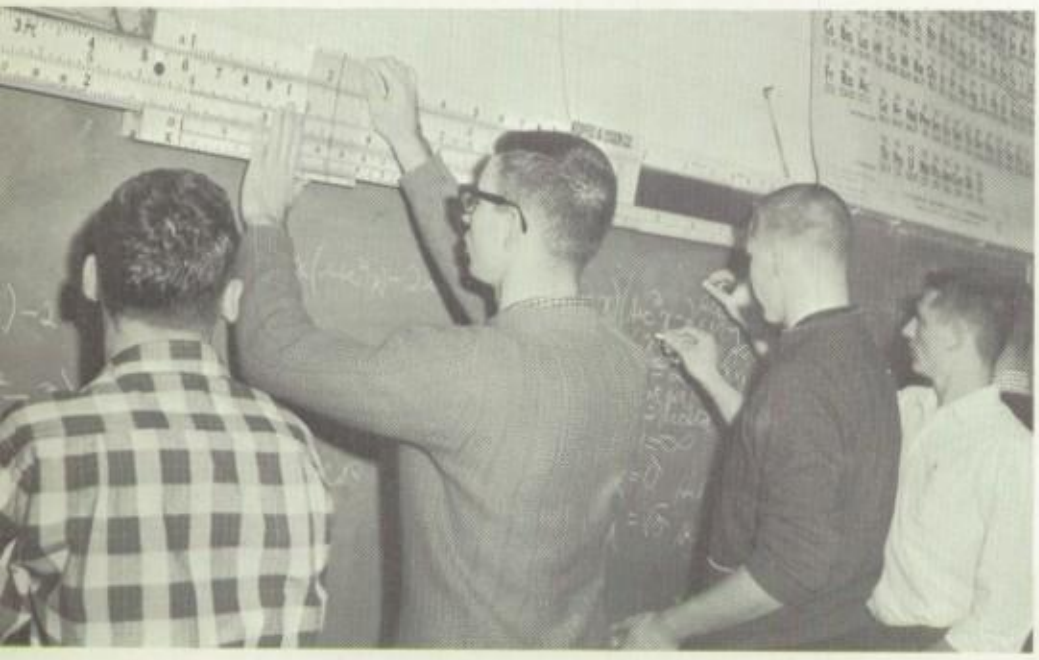
Iowa Air National Guard officials explain a jet engine to Phil Briley, Sister Marie Genevieve, Sister Alice Clare, Judy Woloszyk, Sister Edward Aloysius, Sister Marie Harold, Sister M. Richard, Sister Claire Marie and Sister M. Verona.

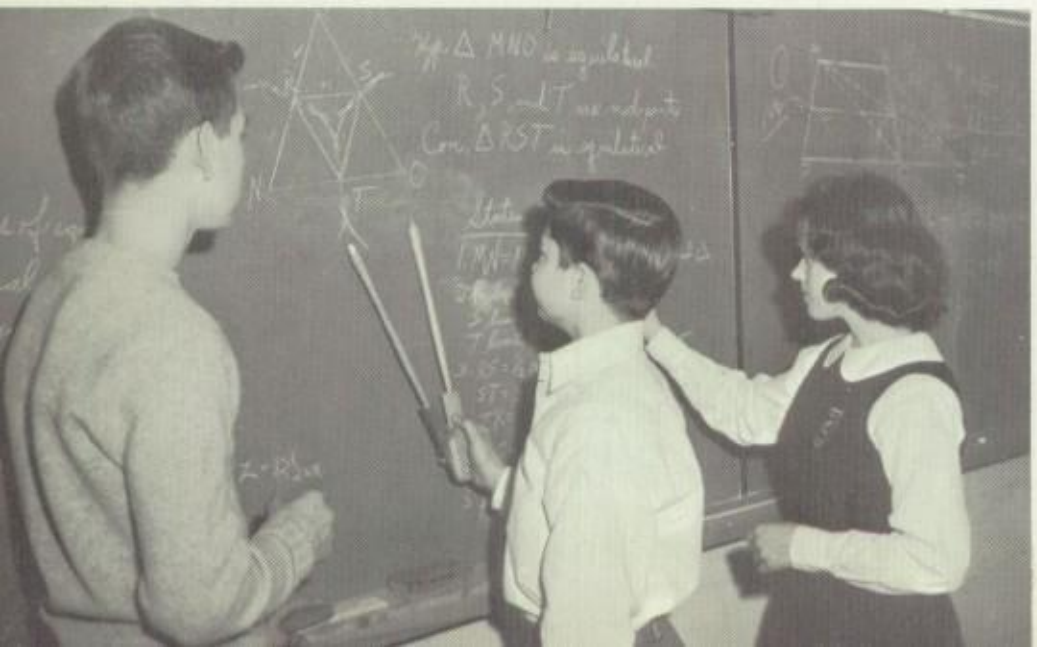
David Klien's computer impresses L. Sabourin, J. Prieur, J. Janeski, M. Dragiewicz, D. Nowak, and M. LeRoux.

Science and Mathematics Hold Secrets

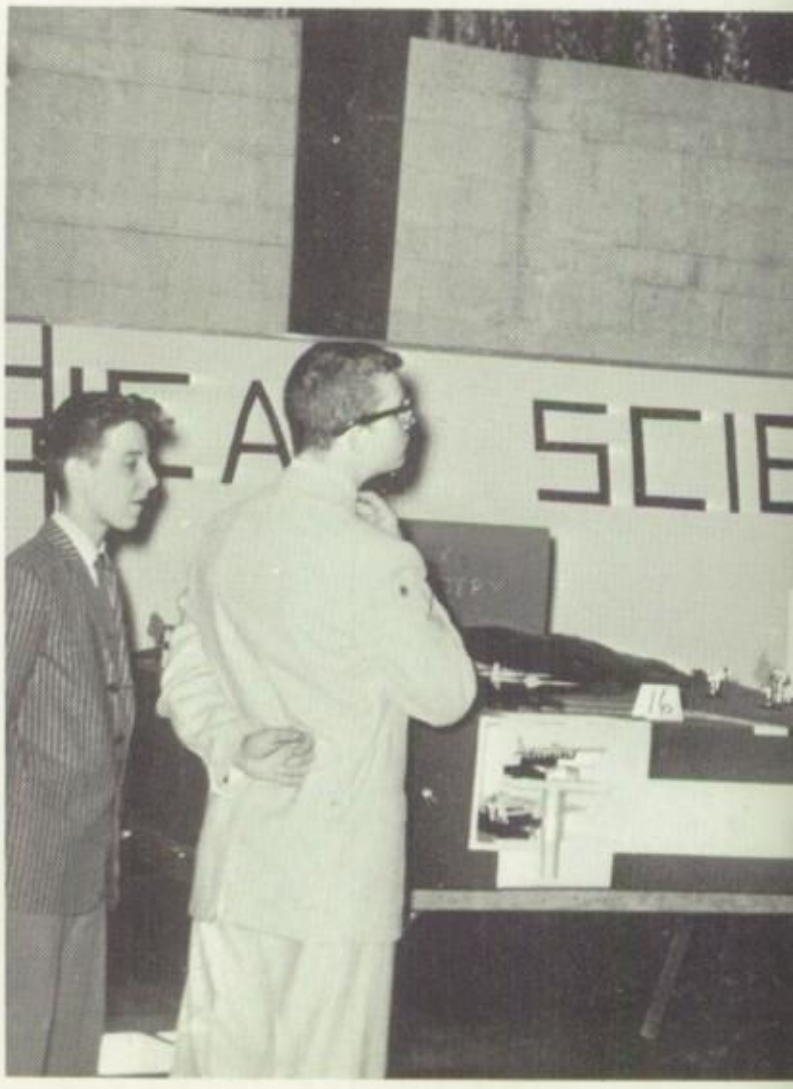
Trigonometry is no problem for Fabian Kwiatkowski, John Doyle, Michael Misiak, James Hamilton, and James Frantz. Jere Huyck is using the slide rule.



Problems in plane geometry are fascinating to David Lawrence who tells Dennis Burns just how to solve one. Busy working her own is Arlene Kendziorski.



Somewhat amazed is Robert Clute as Leonard Nowak describes a display.



Exploring microscopic wonders are Anne Hilla, Michael Dziesinski, Julius Dziesinski, and Joanne Diem.

Students Strive to Discover the Unknown

Catholic Central's Seventh Annual Science Fair, held in the school auditorium March 6 and 7, surpassed all previous CCHS fairs in size and technical knowledge. Members of the five science divisions, General Science, Physical Science, Chemistry, Physics and Biology participated. Students constructed their projects under the supervision of Sister Marie Genevieve. Physics and Chemistry students with winning projects attended the Junior Academy of Science Fair at Mt. Pleasant, May 6 and 7.

James Gaasch, Richard Kasperski, and Michael Stosik observe fungus taken from Thunder Bay River. Their instructor, Sister M. Verona looks on.

Commercial Courses Prepare for Future Jobs

Acquiring essential typing skills are Gene Majesky, Ralph Kelly, Jere Doyle, and Margaret LaCross.

Sister Jeanne d'Arc, shorthand instructor, explains to first year students various types of shorthand symbols.

Mary Ann Kranjiak, Sharon Kryst, Sharon Horal, Sally Mazany, Alan Gapske, Carol Bruski, and Anne LaLonde make tape recordings for the French Club meeting.

Latin II students, Jean Kollien and Joel Marciniak, taught by Sister Mary Aquino, learn vocabulary rapidly by associating words with pictures.

Languages, Drafting, and Art Are Interesting

Sister Alice Clare's second year drafting students, Douglas Heath, Robert Wikaryasz, and Paul Sabourin, construct little shrines for Christmas gifts.

Art II class, Suzanne Skiba, Gilbert Rose, David Matthes, Patricia Mason, Linda Repke, Robert Riggs, and Molly Fitzpatrick construct a modern Christmas tree. Sister Lisa Marie is supervising the project.

Football Is King and Spirit Soars

Catholic Central spirit rose to new heights and reigned resplendently throughout the 1960 Football Homecoming, Sept. 29.

Festivities began with a huge bonfire the evening before on the CC practice-field when Centralites rocked the air with thunderous cheers.

At the pep rally hilarious skits were presented by clubs and classes and the prize for originality and humor was awarded to the Sophomore Class.

Spirit grew with tension and excitement during the game with old rivals, Roger City. At half-time, the queen and her court were introduced. Queen Judy Badder was presented a bouquet of roses by the Junior Class president, Leonard Nowak.

Climaxing the traditional homecoming ceremonies was the dance during which Queen Judy was crowned by football co-captains, Bill Murphy and Frank Nerkowski.

Hold Mock United Nations Session

The Senior Class under the direction of Sister Mary Edwin held a mock United Nations session on October 25 in the Catholic Central gymnasium.

During the session the students brought into focus the major problems and crises facing the nations of the world.

General chairman was Dennis Czolgosz. Father John Troester, principal, gave the dedication.

Heads of the various branches of the United Nations were as follows: General Assembly, John Doyle; Security Council, John Jackowiak; International Court of Justice, Paul Marceau; Trusteeship Council, James Hamilton; Secretariat, Michael Hardy; Economic and Social Council, Michael Misiak; and Specialized Agencies, Patricia Jones.

Besides the discussion on current international problems, students presented colorful dances to show the social culture of some of the nations as Spain, Poland, Austria, and the United States.

Speeches in the Polish, French, and German languages were delivered by Theresa Darga, Ann Glomski, and Wolfgang Baerwold, respectively.

Doing a Spanish dance are Mary Ann Barrett, Rosemary Peplinski, and Sue Barrett.

The a Cappella choir, under the direction of Sister Lisa Marie, sings "One World."

Taking the lead in an American square dance are Janet Reinke and Tom Keller.

Choirs Sing Joyfully Hymns of Praise

Catholic Central choirs carry on an extensive and varied program throughout the school year under the direction of Sister Lisa Marie O.P.

Besides school functions as daily Mass, U.N. Assembly, graduation, Christmas program, and Baccaulaureate, the choirs provide entertainment at meetings of the Parent-Teacher Council, League of Catholic Women, and Christmas caroling at the Old Folks Home.

Each year the choral groups participate in civic projects, the Christmas program and the Spring Concert sponsored by the Alpena Choral Society.

The choirs enter two music festivals, the Michigan State Vocal Association and the Catholic High School Choral Festival of Northern Michigan.

The choirs make their final appearance with the band in the Spring Pop Concert.

Royalty Dance Entertainment Shows Talent

A near-record crowd gathered in Catholic Central auditorium Nov. 23 to honor the 1961 Fulmen Royalty, King Paul Marceau and Queen Patricia Jones and their court, Dennis Czolgosz and Kay Kelley.

During the intermission the Girls' Sextet sang "Sisters" and "I'll see You in My Dreams," and the Four Spades, "Tom Dooley," and "The Everglades." A trio of sophomore girls dramatized "Angelina Johnson."

The moment to remember was the crowning of King Paul and Queen Patti by their fathers Mr. Leo Marceau and Mr. Les Jones. Immediately after the royal crowning, Kay Kelley and Dennis Czolgosz received crowns from Diane Konczak, business manager and Leona Przykucki, co-editor.

After the crowning ceremonies, the royal pairs were honored with a slow spotlight dance. A grand march, led by the King and Queen, closed the evening's entertainment.

Julie LeBlanc, Sally Mazany and Rose Mary Peplinski dramatize a poem "Angelina Johnson."

Father Francis DeWitt and Father Bernard Skornia are presented gifts from the student body by Mary Ann Barrett, vice-president of the student council.

Yule Program and Inaugural Ball Are Merry

Everybody sings carols at Christmas assembly.

The annual Christmas Assembly, held in the gym the last afternoon before the vacation began, December 22, was spirited and gay. The glee club contributed several of its favorite carols, the band played a group of yuletide numbers, and the student body presented gifts to the faculty. The student council was in charge of the program and the presentations.

Monitors Keep Halls and Cafeteria Orderly

The Student Council promotes good relations between the faculty and the student body. It sponsors such activities as the Homecoming Pep Assembly, Christmas Assembly and a get-acquainted day for the Student Councils of the Huron Straits Conference. The 1960-61 officers traveled to Alcona for a get-acquainted day. Father John Troester is adviser assisted by Sister Mary Edwin.

The Monitors are responsible for good order in the school daily and on special occasions. They look after the details of the Golden Mass and they assist at school assemblies. They usher during the annual retreat. At all times good conduct in the halls is maintained through their cooperation and supervision. Sister Mary Edwin is adviser.

Science Clubs and Projectionists Are Busy

The science clubs of the school include the Junior Engineering Technical Society, better known as the JETS and the Phi Chi Science Club. Sister Marie Genevieve is moderator of both clubs.

Membership in the Jets is restricted to physics students interested in furthering their knowledge of engineering. However, physics students, working on science projects to advance the practical knowledge of physics in general, may also belong.

The Phi Chi Science Club has as its purpose to foster greater interest in the field of chemistry. Students raise their own funds to meet the expenses of the school's science fair and the Junior Academy of Science fair.

The projectionists, under the direction of Sister Mary Aquino, learn how to operate all audio-visual equipment. They are awarded certificates upon completion of the course.

Forensic Club and Honor Society Aim High

Catholic Central is a member of the Michigan High School Forensic Association. It participates in debate and in the spring speech activities.

The forensic club includes the debaters and the prospective second semester speech contestants.

The debaters belong to two leagues, the State and North Central League. The teams finished the 1960-61 season with 5—3 record. Varsity debaters were Julie LaBlanc and Rosemary Peplinski, affirmative, and Larry Bedard and Sally Mazany, negative.

The National Honor Society, Thunder Bay Chapter, has a selective membership.

To qualify, students must have 2.2 average and possess qualities of character, service and leadership. They are also chosen on a percentage basis dependent on class enrollment. Sophomores and juniors meeting the requirements are put on probation until their formal induction in March of their junior year.

Each year the club presents a $100 scholarship award to a deserving member.

Officers of the National Honor Society discuss induction ceremonies. They are Ruth Przeslawski, secretary, Mary Pat Howe, treasurer, Joy Pierce, president, and Carla Kuchnicki, vice-president.

Pep Club, Cheerleaders, and Lettermen

Junior varsity cheerleaders for 1960-61 are Sylvia Skowronek, Mary Gaylord, Susan Barrett, Maria Skiba, Donna Rigg, and Patsy Gagnon.

Clubs strengthen school spirit. Chief among these are the Pep, Cheerleaders and Lettermen.

With a force of over 90 pepsters, Rosalie Skowronek, president, carries out well-planned activities. They raise funds to meet the cost of cheerleading equipment and to sponsor a two-week summer course for the captain. Other officers are Rose Marie DeCaire, vice-president, Mary Beth Blake, secretary, and treasurer. The club is under the direction of Sister Marie Harold.

Precision and spirit in performance are goals of Varsity and Junior Varsity cheerleading squads. With latest cheers, the captain sparks greater interest in cheering technique. Judy Badder and Susan Barrett are Varsity and Junior Varsity captains respectively.

The Lettemen contribute to the athletic program by providing funds for special events and boasting team loyalty.

New Coaches Boost Bolts on Gridiron

A feeling of confidence prevailed throughout the football season as head Coach John Kircher presented his offensive and defensive systems to the fighting Thunderbolts. Assistant Coach Phil Petta strengthened the spirit of optimism by showing the team the tricks of trade he learned during his brief absence from Catholic Central. With a new outlook, the past was forgotten and the future was something to which each player looked forward. The coaches' high expectations and the team's hopes were justified by the record of the 1960 Catholic Central football season.

and Huron Straits Conference Co-Champs

The 1960 Thunderbolt football team will go down in history as the first Bolt team to win the Huron Straits Conference Trophy. The Thunderbolts are co-champs with St. Ignace and Oscoda. Bolt fans, however, were proud of their inspired "blue and gold" squad.

In the opener the Bolts were turned back by a powerful non-conference team, St. Andrew's of Saginaw 19—7. Next, the Thunderbolts trounced Soo Loretto 25—6. In the Homecoming and first conference game, the Bolts came from behind to win a 13—12 thriller from Rogers City. October 7 spelled defeat when the Bolts lost a 7—0 heartbreaker to Oscoda.

The following week the Bolts came back and racked up a 20—7 victory over Cheboygan. In the most important game of the season, the spirited Bolts upset defending champions St. Ignace 18—13.

In the final conference game the stout-hearted Bolts edged out a 7—6 victory over Alcona to win their share of the Huron Straits Conference Championship.

In their final game the Bolts scored a decisive 26—0 victory over Bay City St. Stans thus ending the 1960 Football season with an impressive 6—2 record.

Named to the HURON STRAITS ALL-CONFERENCE TEAM were Bill Murphy, Frank Nerkowski, Frank Schultz, Tom Keller, Bob LaMarre and Jere Huyck.

Central Wins Its First Conference Title

Coach Philip Petta's 1960-61 cagers led by four seniors and strengthened by team depth, won their first HURON STRAITS CONFERENCE CHAMPIONSHIP TROPHY for the blue and gold of Catholic Central with an all-conference record 9—1.

The determined Bolts first set their sight on the championship title with a 53—50 win over their old rivals, Rogers City, Dec. 9. The eighth win in the conference with Oscoda, 59—33, Feb. 7, clinched the Bolt's chances for the Conference Championship.

Senior Tom Olsen figured highly in the championship battle with a 20-point scoring average. He also rated high in the rebounding column. Mike Misiak was second with a 13-point average.

Charles Fox and Frank Nerkowski along with Tom Olsen controlled the backboards for the Bolts.

Graduating players are Tom Olsen, Charles Fox, Mike Misiak, and Frank Nerkowski.

Class B District Champs, coach Phil Petta and seniors Charles Fox, Frank Nerkowski, Mike Misiak, and Tom Olsen, display the trophy earned after defeating Cheboygan 63—55 in the opener, and Rogers City 62—48 in the final.

Leaguers Win and Lose, Mostly Lose

The 1960 Thunderbolt baseball team ended its season with a 3—5 record.

Coach Frank McKeon's promising squad lost five tough games with Roger City, Oscoda, and Alcona.

The pitching staff was headed by Tom Olsen with Mike Mischley and Carl Donakowski also doing creditable pitching.

Honor awards were earned by Jim LeTourneau, who received the Most Valuable Player award, Mike Mischley and Jerome Slominski, both of whom received honorable mention.

Heaviest hitter and captain of the team was Jim LeTourneau with a .350 batting average.

Letter winners were: Jim LeTourneau, Jerome Slominski, Richard Gouin, Tom Olsen, Tom LeRoux, Carl Donakowski, Richard Kaminski, Tony Skiba, Jim Roy, Tom Burns, Joe Kaiser, Richard Zaminski, and Dan Skatza.

Managers were Pat Marceau and Mike Kaiser.

This Eventful 10th Year Ends Happily

Smiles, for the end of many hours of work is in view as the photographer snaps this picture of co-editors Leona Przykucki and Paul Marceau.

1961 Fulmen staff has endeavored to provide a lasting memory in word and picture of this the 10th year of Catholic Central's growth. With the completion of this eventful year, the first decade becomes memorable history to our pastors, parents, teachers, alumni and student body.

We, the editors of the 1961 Fulmen, wish to express our gratitude to Father John Troester, our principal . . . to Sister Edward Aloysius O.P., our adviser . . . to patrons and advertisers, our financial supporters . . . to the staff, our associates . . . to Mr. Milo Burston of The Photo Center and Mr. Boutin of VanNocker Studio, our photographers . . . and to the American Yearbook company, our publishers, all who gave us generous assistance and co-operation.
